

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Dr. Tiziano Volpentesta is a Postdoctoral Researcher at Luiss Guido Carli University in Rome. His research explores the digital transformation of organizations, with a particular focus on artificial intelligence, its adoption strategies, and its organizational and managerial implications. He has collaborated with several international academic institutions, including Dublin Business School, Aarhus University, and York University. His work has appeared in leading scholarly outlets such as IEEE and the European Journal of Innovation Management.